Ceska Diplomat

Type: Hold-out Conceal: 8 Ammo: 6 (cyl) Mode: SS
Damage: 4L Caliber: .38 Special Weight: .5kg Avail: 3/12hrs
Cost: 250¥ Street Index: 1

New for '54, the Ceska Diplomat .38 Special revolver is a perfect self defense option for the executive with a need for subtlety. Its slim design and smooth lines give it excellent concealability. The most effective feature of this gun, however, is that it has two barrels and it can fire them both at once. This added firepower, combined with the fact that it has follow up shots, leaves the Diplomat a definite contender in the growing hold out pistol market. For game purposes treat the double shot as a shortened burst.

Heckler & Koch OHWS (Offensive Handgun Weapon System)

Type: Heavy Pistol Conceal: 5 Ammo: 12 (c) Mode: SA
Damage: 9M Caliber: .45cal Weight: 1.2kg Avail: 18/14days
Cost: 2500¥ Street Index: 2

In the early 1990's, the government of old wanted a new weapon system to replace several different weapons currently in service in the armed forces' SOCOM (Special Operations Command). It needed to be able to withstand the different environments that SOCOM units sometimes operated in; salt water, desert and extreme cold were just a few. Well, the Pentagon got what it wanted; a large, indestructible, .45-caliber semi-automatic pistol with integrated electro-optics. With their innovative Polymide frame design, some of which exists in today's weapons, H&K were able to cut recoil forces down to less than 16% of that of a 9mm pistol.

The OHWS is made up of the following components: polycarbonate frame .45 caliber semi-automatic pistol, an incredibly effective sound-suppressor, a single-action/double-action trigger assembly, and an under-barrel optics system made up of a flashlight, visible light laser and an IR laser.

spent. The sound-suppressor is so effective that it doesn't even sound like a pistol anymore! More like a low bass sound. And the recoil is almost non-existent! You can empty the clip in 2.5 seconds and keep the group in a 10cm circle. Well maybe not *you*, chummer, but I've done it. ]<<<<<

With the machine pistol market growing at a tremendous rate, Browning enters the fray with the Defender 10. Given its reliability and resistance to adverse climates, this is an excellent candidate for military service. Of course, this makes it all the better for civilian use. Also available in a smart variant (1800¥).

Ingram Mk IV

Type: Machine Pistol Conceal: 4                      Ammo: 16 (c) Mode: SA/BF
Damage: 10M                      Caliber: .50AE cal Weight: 3kg      Avail: 18/14days
Cost: 2500¥                      Street Index: 3

This compact machine pistol was designed specifically for the UCAS security branches (FBI & NSA). It chambers a round designed during the 1990's that has been a hallmark of handgun firepower. This pistol was designed to either kill or knock down any target using not only the firepower of the .50AE round, but also a special High Explosive Squash Head round that guarantees knockdown, as well as destroys armor. Featuring an integral smartgun link and gas vent 3, this weapon is a deadly addition to the armories of UCAS government agents.

Game notes: This weapon suffers double recoil penalties when used in burst fire mode. The special HESH .50AE (12.7mm) rounds do not do any greater penetration, but they double knockdown penalties and they increase the wound by one category if they penetrate armor. In addition, armor is damaged 2 levels for every round that hits a target. Yes, these rounds are very effective. The cost for the HESH rounds is 200¥ per 10 rounds and have an availability of 18\14 days, with a legality of 3-L as per Shadowtech. This gun and rounds are very nasty (my players found out through playtest). I would not suggest letting players get ahold of these in any quantity.

>>>>[ DO NOT get in front of these things. They will kill or wound you no matter how much armor you wear, and the FBI agents can use them very well. Also, if you manage to get one, don't flash it around because the FBI/NSA don't like people having these. ]<<<<<

Mossberg M-712 Multi-Weapon System

Damage: 8M/10S Caliber: 5.5mm/12 gauge Weight: 6kg Avail: 12/7days

Damage: 6M/9M Caliber: .410 gauge Weight: 2kg Avail: 5/36hrs
Cost: 1,500¥ Street Index: 1.5

Ares comes at us again with this somewhat exotic personal defense weapon. A twin barrel .410 shotgun that loads from an underbarrel box magazine, for that extra edge in self defense. Both barrels can be fired simultaneously, but Ares discourages those who are lighter in build not to do so as the recoil can be a bit much for some. Shot - 6M, slug - 9M.

>>>>[ I came across one of these cuties on a run recently;
